

Four Men Taken Into Custody As Chicken Lifters

Depredations Over Wide Area Said to Have Been Admitted

Declared by deputy sheriffs to be the men for whom they have been looking for months, four men today are awaiting preliminary hearing in Los Angeles municipal court on charges of having stolen thousands of dollars worth of chickens in "Wattler, Lawndale, Lomita, Barabank, Watts and other suburban communities.

The four suspects, who are to have their preliminary hearing on February 6, are William H. Sims, 27, of 816 East New Jersey, Hawthorne; Emery Elliott, 24, and Richard J. Allard, 25, both of 1242 East 93rd street, and Sven D. Anderson, 28, of 1307 West 55th street, Los Angeles. The quartet have signed confessions to one charge of grand theft, according to deputies of the farm theft detail of the sheriff's office.

The arrests were made following a tip given the sheriff's office by Herbert Prickle of Temple City, who obtained the license number of a roadster used by the men during a raid in that area the night of last January 11.

Arrested at the Los Angeles address, deputies said Anderson finally confessed and implicated Stallard and Elliott, both of whom they said confessed and implicated Sims. Stallard, the deputies said, is the ringleader of the gang. He is alleged to have a prior conviction in Los Angeles county, served six months in Orange county and to have been arrested as a suspect in San Diego county for chicken stealing.
